

Lantania collaborates with the 30th Road Week Event

- The director of the group's Technical Office and Machinery Park Department will participate in the conferences

Madrid, 14 October 2019. Lantania will collaborate as a sponsor and will actively participate in the 30th Road Week, which is organised by the Spanish Road Association, promoted by the Government of Galicia, and boasts the collaboration of the main road industry associations in our country; these include the Association of Infrastructure Maintenance and Operation Companies (ACEX), the Spanish Association of Manufacturers of Asphalt Mixture (ASEFMA), the Technical Road Association (ATC), and the Spanish Road Technology Platform (PTC).

The Spanish road industry's most important gathering of the year will take place from 29 to 31 October at the Conference and Exposition Centre of Galicia, in Santiago de Compostela (La Coruña, Spain). This event will aim to tackle the six great challenges of the road sector. Under the slogan "Focusing on the challenges, innovating in the solutions", the convention seeks to redefine the road network management and conservation model, reduce accident rates, solve operational problems, face the ongoing technological challenges, ensure efficient, sustainable mobility, and connect with the concerns of the citizens.

Lantania will also participate in the technical conferences at the 30th Road Week event. The director of the group's Technical Office and Machinery Park Department, Jesús Díaz, will present the lecture entitled "Controlling concrete pavement. Advances in the use of Ultra High Performance Concrete (UHPC)" as part of the technical presentations.

During the 30th Road Week, the ExpoViaria '19 and Innovacarretera trade shows will also take place. ExpoViaria '19 is an event where institutions and companies will have the opportunity to show off their latest developments and ideas. Innovacarretera is a biennial technological demonstration fair, organised by the Spanish Road Technology Platform (PTC). This year, it is celebrating its fifth edition.
